BEST CLAY FOR BRICKMAKING

Wealth That is Found Upon the Shores of the Hudson River in New York.

Magnificent and inspiring as the scenery is along the towering banks of the lordly Hudson, it isn't anywhere near as much of a money-maker as the lowly bricks which are made along the shores of that favored stream. In the ten years past some 11,390,100,000 bricks, valued at $60,407,258, have been fashioned out of the clay close to the water's edge, the New York World states. These bricks if laid flat, would make a sidewalk that would reach around the world. And it is estimated that there is still enough clay left on the banks of the Hudson to make 1,200,000,000 bricks a year for the next 50 years.

The stratum of clay extends along both sides of the Hudson from New York to Cohoes, above Troy, and takes in ten counties, one of them in New Jersey. It is the greatest brickmaking district in all the world. For a century the industry has thrived, and, strangely enough, the method of manufacture has changed hardly any in the lapse of these years.

It was in 1817 when the industry began to thrive. James Woods, an Englishman, had learned the trade of brickmaking in his native land and was attracted to Haverstraw, up the west bank of the river a few miles from New York. The vast quantities of fine brick clay there and the abundance of wood for fuel appealed to him, and he started the first successful brickyard in Rockland county. To Woods is given the credit for discovering that road dust made a fine ingredient for good bricks. He also invented tempering, mixing and molding machines, and these, but little modified, are used even in these times of new appliances for all forms of the industry.

SEVERE TESTS FOR WATCHES

Those Intended for Use in the British Navy Have to Be Absolutely Perfect in Make.

Only the best made chronometer would ever survive the tests watches are made to undergo at the Royal observatory in Greenwich, England.

Usually there are always about two hundred watches under examination at the observatory for use in the British navy. On certain occasions there is a complete trial of chronometers open to all makers who have sufficient confidence in their watches being able to withstand the severity of the tests.

During the competition the watches are exposed to every possible variation of temperature. They are baked in furnaces sufficiently hot to cook a roast of meat.

In fact, so great is the heat that a badly made watch has been known to tumble to pieces during the baking test. The moment a watch is taken out of the oven it is plunged into mixtures registering 40 degrees of frost.

To such perfection has the manufacture of some chronometers attained that even the most stringent tests fail to cause the slightest variation in the accuracy with which they tick off the seconds.

Good Joke on Mean Man.

The other day the mills had just stopped, and a weaver named Dick who was noted for his stingy and miserly ways, was going home. Dick hadn't been very well that day. Just as he left the mill he happened to meet a doctor. So, thinking he could get some medical advice for nothing he stopped the doctor and said he was very ill.

"Where do you suffer most?" said the medical man.

"In my chest, doctor."

"Ah, that's bad. Please close your eyes. That's right. Now put out your tongue, so that I can examine it closely."

Dick did as he was told. After he had waited for about ten minutes he opened his eyes to find an amused crowd of factory people round him, the doctor having meanwhile disappeared.

Not Always Synonymous.

Mary, writing a letter: "Which shall I say, 'Mrs. Brown called last evening,' or 'Mrs. Brown called last night?'" Earl, looking up from his paper: "Either expression will do; they mean the same thing."

"If that is the case, why do we say 'Good evening' when a visitor calls, and 'Good night' when he goes?" "From force of habit, I presume. Evening and night are synonymous terms."

"They may be synonymous, but when my name appears in the society columns I guess you would rather have the report say that I appeared clad in a tasteful evening gown instead of saying I was clad in a tasteful night gown."—Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

Charm Widely Used.

It is curious to note in how many forms of ornamentation the Swastika appears. In Italy it has been discovered on urns in which the dead were encased; in the Swiss lake district it was stamped on pottery; in Scandinavia it appears on carved pins and brooches; in China and Japan it was frequently employed on porcelain and sometimes used as a potter's mark and a pattern on silks. Among the Indians of North and South America cooking utensils and ornaments bear the sign. In every instance it signifies "good luck."

She Stayed In Bed.

Ingram, Tex.—"Ever since I became a woman," writes Mrs. E. M. Evans, of this place, "I suffered from womanly troubles. Last fall I got so bad, I had to stay in bed for nearly a week every month. Since I have taken Cardui, I feel better than I have for years. You can rely on Cardui. It acts on the womanly organs and helps the system to regain its normal state of health, in natural way. Prepared especially for women, it prevents womanly pains, by acting on the cause, and builds up womanly strength in a natural way. Purely vegetable. Mild, but certain in action.
